

True Potential TrinityBridge Growth

29 May 2026

Fund objective

The Fund aims to generate growth over a 3-year period, net of fees.

May Update

Global equities rose again in May amid hopes of a de-escalation in the Middle East and rally in artificial-intelligence (AI) names. Emerging Market (EM) equities led the gains and outpaced their developed market counterparts, driven by South Korea and Taiwan. In developed markets, US technology shares outperformed, while UK equities proved a laggard. In fixed income, UK Gilts did well, while US Treasuries underperformed. Elsewhere, gold ended slightly down as the US dollar and yields edged higher.

The True Potential TrinityBridge Growth Fund returned 4.52% (net of fees). The Fund's large allocation to equities proved beneficial in a strong month for the asset class. The Fund's growth style bias also helped returns as growth outperformed value over the period. The preference for technology shares was also supportive as it was the best-performing sector in May. At the stock level, the most notable contributors included provider of electronic manufacturing services Flex and semiconductor names Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Company and Lam Research. Conversely, energy stocks were among the key detractors, with Williams Companies and DT Midstream delivering negative returns. Financials also underperformed over the month, with 3i Group and Ameriprise Financial posting losses over the period. In fixed income, the Fund's preference for US Treasuries over UK Gilts proved detrimental as Gilts outperformed amid lower-than-expected UK inflation. In alternatives, the Fund's exposure to gold detracted over the month.

Risk type	Description
Performance Risk	Investment objectives express an intended result but there is no guarantee that such a result will be achieved. Depending on market conditions and the macro-economic environment, certain investment types and styles may perform better than others and investment objectives may become more difficult to achieve.
Counterparty Risk	There may be cases where the organisation from which we buy a derivative, or an asset, fails to meet its obligations. The Fund's cash deposits are also subject to counterparty risk.
Derivative Risk	The Fund is entitled to use derivatives. Derivatives may not achieve their intended purpose. Their prices may move up or down significantly over relatively short periods of time which may result in losses greater than the amount paid.
Operational Risk	The Fund faces non-market risk, relating to purchasing, holding and servicing the Fund's assets.
Credit Risk	Where the Fund invests in bonds, there is a risk the bond issuer may fail to meet its repayments. Changes in interest rates, inflation and the creditworthiness of the bond issuer may also affect the bond's market value. This risk is particularly relevant where the fund invests in bonds with a lower credit rating.
Exchange Rate Risk	The Fund may invest in securities not denominated in GBP. The value of your investments may be affected by changes in currency exchange rates.
Liquidity Risk	Certain market conditions could make sufficiently liquid assets difficult to sell quickly at a fair price. This could result in an unpredictable fall in the value, and overall liquidity of the Fund.
